INCLUSION CLINICS, held at The College of NJ (TCNJ), provide student-focused school-parent teams an opportunity to spend the day planning the details of inclusion for an individual child in a professionally led, relaxed atmosphere. *Teams MUST INCLUDE AT LEAST 3 people: one general educator, one parent (or family member) of the focus child, and one special educator. ANY TEAM THAT ARRIVES AT A CLINIC WITHOUT ONE OF THESE CRUCIAL MEMBERS WILL BE SENT HOME! (Schools may bring up to 5 additional professionals).

PLEASE NOTE: With the permission of the parent, students in TCNJ's teacher education program may observe the Clinic, giving them a first-hand opportunity to experience research-based, collaborative planning for a child's placement in the general education classroom.

CLINIC FACILITATORS: Each individual child's Clinic is facilitated by NJCIE Consultants and/or higher education faculty members with expertise in inclusive education.

From a
Inclusion Clinic
Participant -

The Inclusion Clinic provided a forum that allowed our team to operate as it should ... in the interests of the child... with a real opportunity to brainstorm, explore, and consider methods...
